ANDREA ALVIN

Her subjects are quintessential icons of post-war, baby-boomer, middle-class America like Oreo cookies, Necco Wafers, Twinkies and Hostess Cupcakes. According to noted artist, Andrea Alvin, these are cultural and historical icons that both a 60-year-old and a 20-year-old can identify with.

Schooled in fine arts and with skills fine-tuned as an animation designer and animator, Alvin's paintings are works of art. She designs each composition as a study in color and form, with an amazing ability to combine abstraction and representation. At close range, the paint and brush strokes are very evident, but then appear to dissolve when viewed from a distance.

Among the variety of categories compatible with the unique images in the ANDREA ALVIN PORTFOLIO are: home décor, apparel, paper goods, school supplies, infant items, puzzles, and games.
